Thank You, Summer Workers and Volunteers!

It has been a busy summer at OMPH School! Throughout the summer many volunteers stopped in to lend a hand helping us get ready for the new school year. OMPH students and graduates helped with our summer cleaning by moving desks, bookcases, filing cabinets and computer tables to the hallways so classroom floors could be scrubbed and waxed. Walls were cleaned and windows sparkled again. Teachers and student helpers unpacked books and new learning materials, delivered supplies to the classrooms and decorated the hallways. Members of our Technology Team met on weekends to complete routine maintenance and set up our new Chromebooks for the students. Our dedicated gardeners weeded throughout the summer to care for our beautiful flowerbeds. The faculty, staff and students deeply appreciate the many, many hours spent helping to prepare for the new school year. May God bless them for their generous spirit and gift of time!

Matthew Mercer Places in National Level of Competition in You Be the Chemist Challenge!

Congratulations to Matthew Mercer, recent Eighth Grade graduate, who placed in the top 15 in the national level of the You Be the Chemist Challenge. Matt competed along with 42 students in the competition held in Washington, D.C.

Sponsored by the Chemical Educational Foundation (CEF), a non-profit organization dedicated to inspiring students to pursue chemistry and STEM-related learning and careers, the competition engages the students in answering science and chemistry-related questions throughout an exhilarating day-long academic bee-style competition.

It's Time for a New School Year!
